

SWIPED RIGHT

P3 PROJECT

AN ANIMATED SHORT FILM

BY ANUKRITI SINGH

IDC School of Design
अभिकल्प विद्यालय

 IIT Bombay

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to thank Prof.
Shilpa Ranade, Prof. Sumant Rao,
Prof. Aditi Chitre, Abhishek
Verma, Swati Agarwal for their valuable suggestions throughout the course.

I would also like to thank my classmates, batchmates, friends who helped me with their voices

and my family for constant support and valuable feedback.

CONTENT

● Approval Sheet	2	● Production	23
● Declaration	3	● Challenges & Conclusion	24
● Acknowledgement	4	● References	25
● Introduction	6
● Research	9
● Mindmap	11
● Premises	12
● Final story	13
● Storyboard	14
● Animatics	15
● Character Design	16
● Final look	21

INTRODUCTION

Why this topic?

Women put so much effort into this whole process of 'dating' and it includes all sorts of efforts - emotionally getting ready even though we end up being victims of all sorts of crime. We are scared of uploading our pictures on any social media platform, we are forced to be scared of certain things in the society which is very normal for the other part of the society.

why thus topic?

2 incidents

safety issues have become a daily joke in women's life

bandi dila de yaar

miro

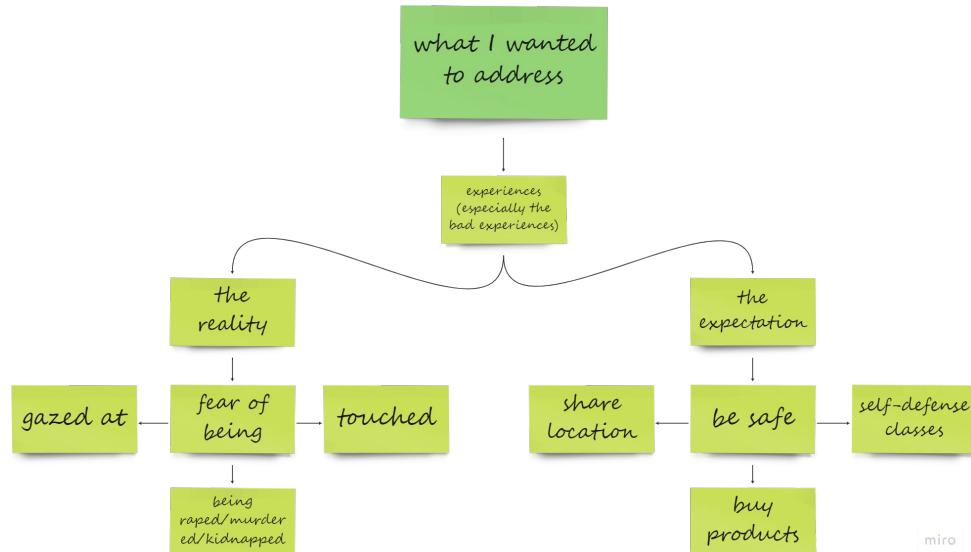

Initially I think I just wanted to show what women go through when they finally agree to meet some guy,, what are their thoughts? How are they preparing for the date? How everything they do has a particular reason behind it or a fear attached to it.

For example :

If they are carrying a purse that's because first they don't have pockets in their dress, second they are forced to carry some additional things such as pepper spray which serves as a self-defense object for them.

We try to stalk the guy to the best of our abilities and still there is a high chance that whoever the person is can be entirely different - and in our case this can be dangerous.

So the end goal is to establish the fact that even though we know that there is a high chance of us ending up in a bad situation where we did nothing wrong, we are still ready to fight our way through the depressing scenario.

But towards the end of the project I realised it is so much more than that, and nothing is black and white. While exploring the grey areas of this topic - I went through a lot of dilemma's where I constantly tried to keep in check that in no way am I conveying that all men are bad or I am against men in general .

In conclusion the film tries to convey that there are realities and then there are some set guidelines by the society for women - and in my opinion - that is simply not the solution because after-effects or aftermath of all these experiences is still a woman left traumatized for life.

RESEARCH

Primary data collection:

personal interviews with people around me.

Keywords gathered: be careful, scared, didn't tell her parents, selected the location- public place, excited and scared, lied about his height, he was late(45 mins), not dressed up, late (15 mins), brought a gift, tried to put his hands on her shoulder, felt unsafe, old school, should dress up , no physical contact, public place

Secondary data collection:

- Movies- short films made by Eeksaurus studio addressing this topic and Bill Plympton's way of storytelling were really helpful to organise my thoughts visually
- Books - purple ronnie's guide to men is a book that is a very opinionated and might be offensive take on how men can be categorised according to their behavior
- Articles - a lot of articles were read and analysed to make a sound understanding of the topic before beginning with the story-writing part of it.

MIND MAP

PREMISES

miro

story

Storyboard

→

↓

←

ANIMATICS

Tools used :

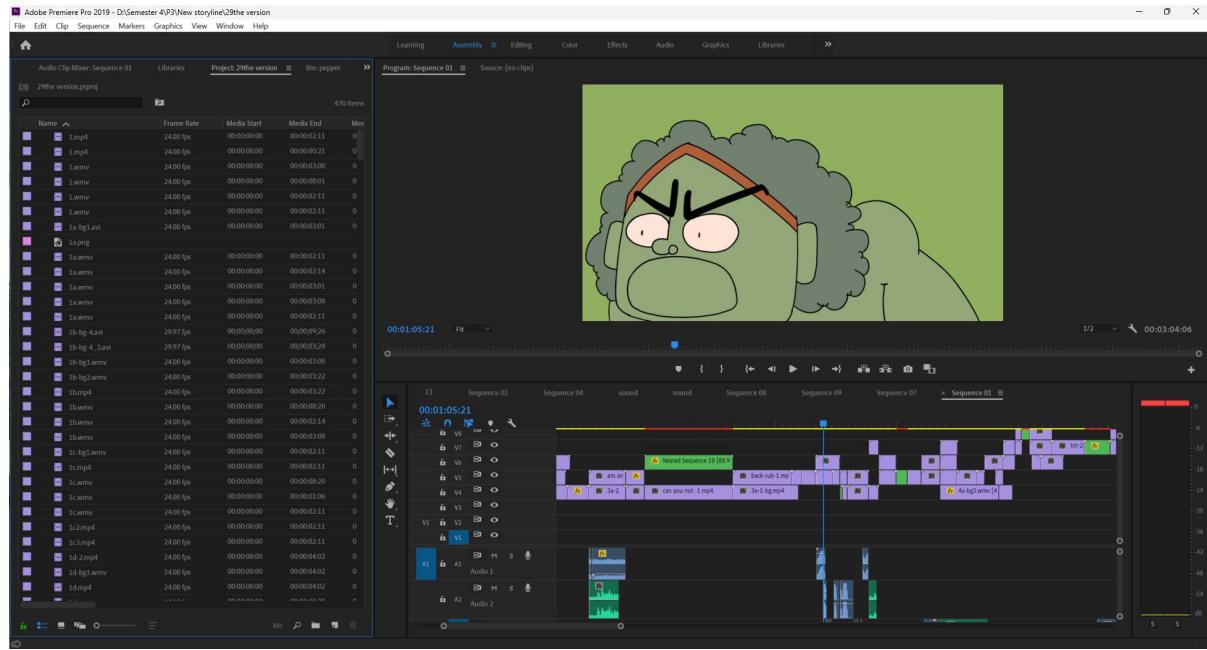

Toon boom harmony- frame by frame animation

Photoshop - for backgrounds

Premiere pro - compilation of video and sound effects

After effects- some editing

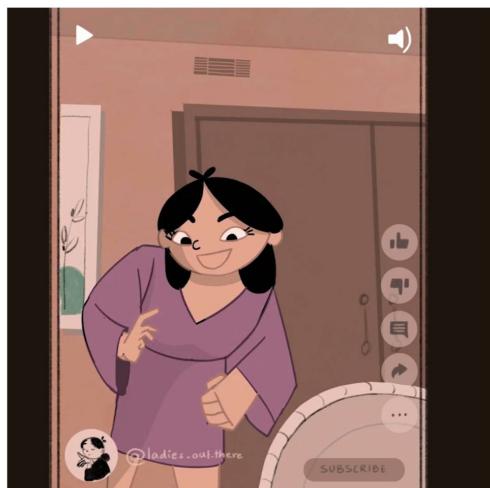

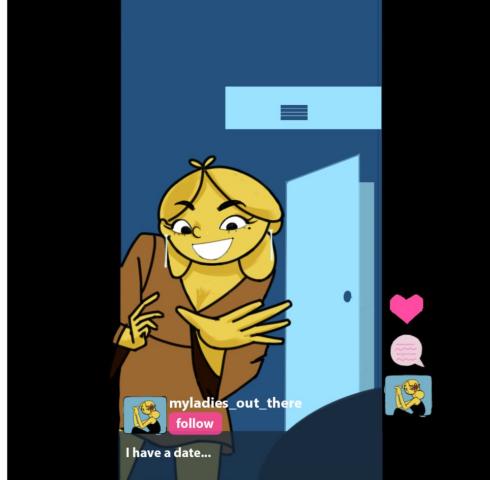

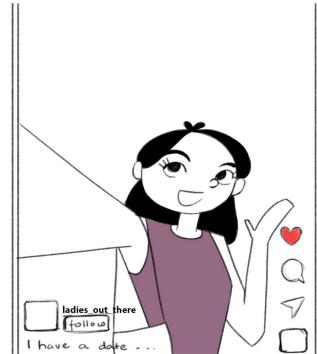

Total number of animatics - 29-30 versions.

CHARACTER DESIGN

Character designing part was a bit tricky - when I began with it - I wanted all the characters especially the female characters to have no skin color or any particular shape or size, but by the time I was ready with my story it became harder and harder to come up with ideas on how to pull that off. So I decided to go with style that was doable in the amount of time I was left with.

EXPLORATIONS

FINAL LOOK

BACKGROUNDS

PRODUCTION

CONCLUSION AND CHALLENGES

- Handling all the tasks of the process was difficult
- Still have a lot to learn about the sound designing process
- Satisfaction of completing a version of a film which was initially just a thought.

REFERENCES

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aowRFoorGZc>
- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0BuV0flHGug>
- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aUfpRhedi38&ab\_channel=StudioEksaurus
- <https://www.amazon.in/Purple-Ronnie-Guide-Men-Ronnie/dp/1873922531>

THANK YOU!